Corrugated Re-trippers

Re-using the same package for the same purpose has some environmental advantages. Many companies, for example, use what are called corrugated re-trippers to move materials from warehouse to store and back again. Why would you want to use new boxes when you can continually use the same ones again and again within your own operations, and then just recycle them when they get a little bit worn?

When you move to another apartment or house, or to another town or city, you will also find widespread use of corrugated re-trippers. These handy moving boxes come in various shapes and sizes and you can frequently sell any unused ones back to the moving or rental company so that they can offer them to someone else.
